POINTS TO DANGER

Archbishop Ireland Urges People to Deal Fairly by Each Other.

Says Profuseness of Country's Prosperity Begets Peril to Nation.

Seldom Before Has There Been Such Need For Exercising Prudence.

A WORD TO THE WAGE EARNERS

Archbishop Ireland, in discussing the dangers of anarchism, a subject on which he touched at the recent gathering of the Army of the Tennessee, at Council Bluffs, has given a further elaboration of his views:

"The very profuseness of the prosperity of the United States begets peril, unless the American people can be taught to use these favors well and wisely. Through her recognition of manhood in every man the multitudes become the rulers, and at times the multitudes bend too readily to momentary excitements. Hence the extreme need of the proper formation of the popular mind, so as to correct thought and righteous action. Injury irreparable may be done during a brief interval of social or political insanity, and a frequency of such conditions, however brief they may be, too easily degenerates into abiding habits. I extol the material prosperity of America. But as one of its accidental consequences I must note the spirit of social restlessness which now agitates the country, and in the apprehension of which the staunchest forces of patriotism must be steadily invoked. It is said too much prosperity comes to some, too little to others; hence new methods are called for in the distribution of wealth and the enjoyment of it. The right of every laborer, in present conditions, that there is no room for progress, we must not assert. But nothing should be said or done to subvert public order, destructive of the spirit of the country and its institutions; in the discussions taking place and the acts following them the fundamental principles of right, reason and the constitution and laws of the Republic should not be forgotten or set aside; nothing should be authorized or permitted that would pass the right of property, and the stimulus of ambition and effort resulting from it are vital requisites for progress and civilization. That in the holding of private property there be inequality is a fact that is inevitable. Men are not and never will be equal in the power that builds up prosperity, in the sacrifice of self and the economy that preserves and increases it; hence they never will be equal in the amount of property that they do or can possess.

"The preaching of Utopias in remedy of this inequality, the proposal of schemes that ignore the nature of men and the vital conditions of human society are an insult to less than an injury to the individual whom they vainly would beguile by their will-o-the-wisp glamor and deception. It is the day of Utopias. Seldom if ever before in the history of human society was there greater need of prudent wisdom on the part of would-be teachers, of patient reflection on the part of listening audiences. The gravest responsibility rests on all to move slowly, to think wisely, to avoid all peril of leaps into the dark. A chief panacea put before us is common ownership, through city, State and nation, of the chief agencies of productivity and of the transportation, hither and thither, of the results of this productivity. Let all be on their guard. Common ownership in one direction leads readily to common ownership in another—all the more so when the purpose really held in mind is to grasp wealth without much personal effort, to make up for one's own deficiencies by despoiling others. And there is not serious danger therein of weakening individual ambition—which has been, in America, particularly, the great stimulus to the wondrous material development with which the country has been blessed.

"To the poor man, to the wage earner, I should indeed preach the doctrine of ambition and energy. Let every one aim to secure competency for himself and his family. Let every one strive to rise; it is his right, it is his duty. But all this he must do by means that are fair and just, without ever infringing on the rights of others, be they his fellow laborers or those whom he and they call the rich of the land. To the rich and the more fortunate I should preach unceasingly the doctrine of justice and charity. Just they must be all—depriving none of their God-given rights and of the opportunities which should be open to all—doing their best that the laborer may acquire through his industry the decent and befitting livelihood which human dignity demands. Unreasonable querulousness among the poor, senseless extravagance among the rich, are equally to be reprehended and if one is to be reprehended more severely than the other it is the senseless extravagance of the rich. It is a crime against humanity; it is madness itself to squander money in mere reckless ostentation. Now and then we hear of people so insane in wild extravagance as to clothe dogs and horses in purple and fine linen, and to feed them from golden platters. Are not such people the enemies of the country—by the hatreds which they arouse and the seditious protests to which they give rise?"

RESTS IN PEACE.

Mrs. Mary Meehan's Passing Away Causes Deep Sorrow.

Mrs. Mary Meehan, widow of the late William Meehan, after a long and useful life, yielded her soul to her Maker on Wednesday morning, fortified by the rites of the church, of which she had been a most devoted and exemplary member and surrounded by her ten children and six grandchildren. Mrs. Meehan came to Louisville from Baltimore with her parents while an infant over sixty years ago, and during all that long time she had been a resident and member of St. John's parish. In that church she lived and died, and no other death has caused deeper or more genuine sorrow. Of a cheery and generous disposition, to know was to love her, and not a few there are who will miss her advice and unfailing kindness.

Mrs. Meehan was the mother of a large and well-known family. The oldest son is Will T. Meehan, who for years past has been prominent in the Catholic affairs of Louisville. Two of her daughters and a sister have been prominently connected with the public schools of this city. All of them served as principals and one of the daughters and the sister are still holding that position. The other daughter, Miss Mamie Meehan, gave up her position upon her marriage several years ago and removed to Missouri, where she is living now. Miss Anna M. Meehan is the principal of the Sylvia-avenue school, and Miss Margaret Meehan, Mrs. Meehan's sister, is the principal of the Myrtle-avenue school. Besides these daughters Mrs. Meehan is survived by Miss Margaret Meehan, Miss Adelaide Meehan, Mrs. Katherine Dear, Mrs. Nellie Hart, Charles J. Meehan, James G. Meehan and Frank Meehan, of Chicago.

With her unmarried sons and daughters Mrs. Meehan had an elegant home at 1167 East Broadway. While she had not been well for a long time her condition was not considered serious until about ten days before the end. All day Thursday there was a constant stream of callers at the residence, and the cortege that followed the remains to St. John's filled that church to overflowing yesterday morning when the funeral services were held over the remains by the Rev. Father Bax, who had been Mrs. Meehan's only pastor. With hundreds of others we join in tendering sympathy to the sons and daughters in the loss they have sustained.

AFTER NEW HOME.

Division 3 Elects Officers and Makes Good Start For New Year.

Division 3, A. O. H., at the meeting Monday night instructed Messrs. P. T. Sullivan, D. J. Coleman and James Ryan to secure a hall more suitable to the needs of the order, which will be welcome news to the members. The following officers were elected and a fine start was made for the coming year:

President—James Coleman.
Vice President—Phil Cavanaugh.
Recording Secretary—John Morris.
Financial Secretary—John Hession.
Treasurer—Daniel J. Dougherty.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Thomas Noon.
Standing Committee—Patrick Holley, Patrick T. Sullivan, Lawrence J. Mackey, Charles Boyle, George J. Butler.

In acknowledging the honor conferred upon him James Coleman delivered a forceful and practical address, pledging his best efforts to the division and order. He urged the members to attend the meetings and give the officers their hearty and united support, with which Division 3 would soon become the strongest numerically as well as financially. The laws will be administered conscientiously and impartially, and the presence of members will create enthusiasm and friendly feeling.

State President Butler and ex-Country President Thomas Quinn also addressed the members, the former expressing himself elated over his reception at Covington and the condition of the order there. After the usual routine business all adjourned to the Sisters' bazaar at Liederkranz Hall.

FINGERS MASHED.

Edward McDermott, whose home is in New Albany, an employee of the American Car and Foundry Company in Jeffersonville, had one of his hands caught in a machine he was running Tuesday and suffered painful and serious injury. When medical assistance reached him it was found that the hand was so badly mangled that the first and third fingers had to be amputated.

NOMINEES

Show That People of Catholic Faith Lead Reform Movement.

Irishmen are Now Prominent in the Affairs of the Old Bay State.

Protestants With Them in the Struggle For Nobler Things.

NEW ENGLAND'S CATHOLIC GAIN

The election of Hon. James H. Higgins as Governor of Rhode Island and of a number of Catholics as Mayors of Providence, Pawtucket, Woonsocket and similar centers, seems to have inspired the Catholics of Massachusetts into unwonted activity. Or it may be that the splendid record which Boston's Irish Catholic Mayor, Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, is making is encouraging other Massachusetts cities to follow the example set by the Athens of the United States.

Whatever the reason, in any case, it is certain that a number of Catholics in the Bay State suddenly have found favor at the hands of their fellow citizens of every creed and no creed. The current Messenger, of Worcester, makes this fact strikingly plain in an article which seems to prove that the people of New England are today looking to the Catholic Church to lead in the movement for political and social reform.

In part that paper says: "The present week gives the strongest evidence that the wave of reform which has resulted in naming so many men in the selection of candidates to head the tickets in various cities of the State, who are Irish-Americans, continues unabated. 'Of course it was always a foregone conclusion that Mayor John T. Duggan would be chosen again as the Democratic candidate for chief executive of Worcester. That Dr. Duggan will win over his opponent is generally believed. 'Holyoke has nominated an Irish-American for Mayor, and it is significant to note that in no instance do the Republican machines make such nominations. Their policy is always to shout for party and if successful in elections to get all they can from the cities.

"William A. O'Brien was nominated by the Democrats for Mayor of Chelsea, as the Republican machine of that city is sunk in the corruption of graft and some of the city officials are indicted for crimes. Mr. O'Brien stands a good chance for election, for people feel that he is needed to reform the city. 'Mayor M. F. Dwyer, of Medford, has been renominated by the Democrats and citizens, and he will run on the Citizens' ticket. As his name indicates he is another Irish-American and he represents those who have risen by the hard toil of hands as well as brains.

"James F. Altyard, the Democratic nominee for Mayor of Cambridge, is a very able and a very good man, clean, wholesome and a student of affairs. He made a brilliant record as Alderman in the University city. Mr. Altyard is a lawyer. He is also a devout Catholic and prominent in all Catholic affairs. 'Mayor James J. Casey has been renominated in Lowell, and he probably will be re-elected without any great difficulty, for his record is unimpeachable and unassailable. He had several hard contests against corruption and local monopolies, but he always won out. He had the courage to oust the police board and the latter sought revenge by defeating him for renomination, but he defeated the members in their own wars.

"There are more nominations of Irish-Americans, not only in Massachusetts but in other States of New England, proving again that the descendants of the Puritans not only recognize Irish-Americans as able officials in the highest offices, but also so far removed from corrupt influences as to save many thousands of dollars to the State who have to pay taxes. In many instances, too, these nominees are against monopolies that charge exorbitant rates for all municipal needs.

"We are not so sanguine as to believe that all the gentlemen mentioned will be elected. It is gratifying, however, to learn that each is an advocate of greater social justice, clean, strong and incorruptible. Very distinctly it is gratifying, moreover, to learn that their Protestant fellow citizens deem them worthy of trust and have appointed them to lead in the struggle for nobler things.

INCREASED SALARIES.

The salaries of the engineer and firemen at the City Hall were increased at the meeting of the General Council this week, and those employees are deeply grateful to Councilmen Bennett, to whom is largely due the credit for the passage of the ordinance. There is a strong and growing sentiment in favor of increasing the pay of the police and firemen, and the question may be introduced at any meeting of the council.

FAREWELL BANQUET.

Rev. Leo Manzatti, who for the past two years has been head of Cincinnati's School of Solmes Chant, severed his connection with the diocesan music commission last Saturday. A farewell reception and banquet was tendered him at the Sterling Hotel by members of the Cathedral choir. The Rev. Cincinnati for Conception, Mo., where the famous Benedictine Abbey is located, the real cradle of Solmes chant in the West. After a brief stay in St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee Prof. Manzatti will start for the East, where he will take up similar duties as in Cincinnati, either in New York or Boston.

Attorney Conkling's election means an energetic and progressive administration and the completion of the new club house on Baxter avenue. Following is the list of officers elected:

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary McGurk, a pioneer resident of New Albany, took place Tuesday morning from Holy Trinity church. Rev. Father Curran officiating at the solemn services. Deceased is survived by one son, who lives in Louisville.

Though dead a year the memory of little James Joseph Burke was not forgotten by the bereaved parents, John and Mary Burke, 1230 Seventh street. The anniversary of the sad event occurred this week and was observed with prayer and services for the repose of his soul.

John McNulty, aged sixty-three, for many years an industrious and respected resident of the West End, died early Sunday morning at his home, 1921 Baird street, after a short illness. Besides his wife, three sons, James, John and Edward McNulty, survive him. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Patrick's church. Deceased is survived by a wife and the greater part of his life was spent in this city.

James McTigue, sixty years of age and long a resident of Limerick, died last Saturday afternoon at his home, 1210 Seventh street, after a short illness of pneumonia. For years he held the position of car inspector for the Louisville & Nashville railroad, would have been a highly respected. Besides his widow four sons and a daughter survive him. The funeral took place Monday from St. Louis Bertrand's church with a solemn mass of requiem for the repose of his soul.

John Shaughnessy, for many years employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died early Wednesday morning after a short illness at his home, 1449 Seventeenth street. He was a native of Ireland, but had lived here for about fifty years and was the father of an interesting family. Besides his wife and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Shaughnessy, he leaves five sons, James, George, Edward and Louis Shaughnessy. Deceased was a devout member of the Sacred Heart church, and the large attendance at his funeral there Friday morning and the words of Father Walsh were a worthy tribute to his memory.

THIEMANN PROMOTED.

The Board of Directors of the Southern National Bank this week elected Henry Thiemann to the position of cashier, and they are certainly to be commended for the wisdom of their selection. Few bank officials have a wider acquaintance, and among the young bankers few have had a longer service. Beginning as a runner in the Farmers and Drovers' Bank he rose step by step until he became assistant cashier, and when the Farmers and Drovers' was absorbed by the Southern National Mr. Thiemann became a part of the new institution. For more than thirty years he has been with one institution or its successor and his wide acquaintance, unwavering courtesy and genial consideration of those who have dealt with him has given him a large and enthusiastic following, who are glad that he has now ascended to so high a place on the financial ladder.

ROOSEVELT

Declares For More Suitable Laws Regulating Marriage and Divorce.

State or Federal Arbitration For Disputes Between Labor and Capital.

Drastic and Thoroughgoing Child Labor Law Should Be Enacted.

POINTS IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

President Roosevelt's message, read in Congress on Tuesday, is a State document of more remarkable strength and force than length, and deals fully and fairly with the great problems now confronting the American people. Urging Congress to safeguard the home by the enactment of laws regulating marriage and divorce, the President says:

"I am well aware of how difficult it is to pass a constitutional amendment. Nevertheless in my judgment the whole question of marriage and divorce should be relegated to the authority of the national Congress. At present the wide differences in the laws of the different States on this subject result in scandals and abuses; and surely there is nothing so vitally essential to the welfare of the nation, nothing around which the nation should so bend itself to throw every safeguard, as the home life of the average citizen. The change would be good from every standpoint. In particular it would be good because it would confer on the Congress the power at once to deal radically and efficiently with polygamy; and this should be done whether or not marriage and divorce are dealt with. It is neither safe nor proper to leave the question of polygamy to be dealt with by the several States. Power to deal with it should be conferred on the national Government. When home ties are loosened, when men and women cease to regard a workable family life, with all its duties fully performed, and all its responsibilities lived up to, as the life best living, then evil days for the commonwealth are at hand. There are regions in our land, and classes of our population, where the birth rate has sunk below the death rate. Surely it should need no demonstration to show that wilful sterility is from the standpoint of the nation, from the standpoint of the human race, the one sin for which the penalty is national death, race death, a sin for which there is no atonement; a sin which is the more dreadful exactly in proportion as the men and women guilty thereof are in other respects, in character, and bodily and mental powers, those whom the citizens of the State it would for the sake of the State it would be well to see that the fathers and mothers of many healthy children, well brought up in homes made happy by their presence. No man, no woman, can shrink the primary duties of life, whether for love of ease and pleasure or for any other cause, and retain his or her sanity.

The President treats exhaustively the relations between capital and labor, with the recommendation that some measure should be enacted looking to the curbing of the base teachings of one and the great services of the other, and suggests the following method for settling disputes:

"In this age of great corporate and labor combinations, neither employer nor employee should be left completely at the mercy of the stronger party to a dispute, regardless of the righteousness of their respective claims. The proposed measure would be in the line of securing recognition of the fact that in many strikes the public has itself an interest which can not wisely be disregarded; an interest not merely of general convenience, for the question of a just and proper public policy must also be considered. In all legislation of this kind it is well to advance cautiously, testing each step by the actual results; the step proposed can surely be taken for the direction of the commission would not bind the parties in legal fashion, and yet would give a chance for public opinion to crystallize and thus to exert its full force for the right."

President Roosevelt commands the eight hour work day, and in asking that a drastic and thoroughgoing child labor law should be enacted has this to say:

"The Congress at its last session wisely provided for a transient court for the District of Columbia; a marked step in advance on the path of properly caring for the children. Let me again urge that the Congress provide for a thorough investigation of the conditions of child labor and of the labor of women in the United States. More and more our people are growing to recognize the fact that the questions which are not merely of industrial but of social importance outweigh all others; and these two questions most emphatically come in the category of those which effect in the most far-reaching way the home life of the nation. The horrors incident to the employment of young children in factories or at work anywhere are a blot on our civilization. It is true that each State must ultimately settle the question in its own way; but a thorough official investigation of the matter, with the results published broadcast, would greatly help toward arousing the public conscience and securing unity of State action in the matter. There is, however, one law on the subject which should be enacted immediately, because there is none on an investigation in reference thereto, and the failure to enact it is creditable to the National Government. A drastic and thoroughgoing child-labor law should be enacted for the District of Columbia and the Territories."

REV. FATHER RAFFO.

Will Address Quarterly Meeting of Vincentians Tomorrow.

Tomorrow morning the various conferences of the St. Vincent de Paul Society will approach holy communion at their respective churches, and in the afternoon there will be a general meeting in St. Francis Hall at the Cathedral. This is the regular Vincentian quarterly meeting and the last for the year 1906, and the fact that Rev. Charles P. Raffo, pastor of St. Charles Borromeo church, will deliver the principal address insures a large attendance. President James Campbell and Secretary John Doyle will have several interesting reports to read and there will be a review of the work of the past year. The meeting will be called at 3 o'clock sharp in order that a seasonable adjournment may be had. Quite a number of new members will be received, and with a little interest is awaited the reports that will show which conference is making most progress.

INITATION.

Hibernians Will Confer Decrees Sunday, December 16.

Under the direction of the Jefferson county degree team the Hibernians of Louisville will have a big initiation on Sunday afternoon, December 16, for which Magistrate Patrick T. Sullivan and associates are making great preparation. This will be the closing event of the present year in local Hibernian circles, which it is hoped will be made memorable and add largely to the ranks of the order.

The County Board and the four divisions are deeply interested in the initiation, the first of which has taken place for many months, notwithstanding that new members have been elected at almost every meeting. Each division will send out notices to candidates and members, and those who have presented names for initiation to see and accompany the applicants to Hibernian Hall that day. With the advent of the new County Board next month it is expected that quarterly initiations will be instituted, as an earnest endeavor will be made to double the membership in this county before the next national convention.

GOT IN BAD.

Upon advice from Rev. Father Rossmann, pastor of the Sacred Heart church of Wheeling, C. O. Duffy, from Owensboro, Ky., was taken into custody by the police at the Washington Hotel at Portsmouth, Ohio, last Saturday night, charged with embezzling funds solicited for advertisements for a "fake" book explaining the sacraments which purported to be circulated among Catholics only. Collections were made but no books forthcoming. At Wheeling, it is claimed, Duffy got away with several hundred dollars. Father Rossmann notified neighboring priests and as soon as he appeared there the police were notified. When Duffy registered at the hotel he asked to be assigned a room near the fire escape, claiming he had a narrow escape from an earthquake. From letters it is found that he has a family at Owensboro, where he is believed to be well connected.

WELCOME SHOWER.

The good friends of Rev. Father Kalaher, pastor of the Catholic church just completed on West Market street, assembled at his little rectory Wednesday and treated him to an unexpected but nevertheless welcome shower. They came from all parts of the city, and upon their departure it was discovered that they had showered him with nearly everything to furnish his residence.

PEACE

Now Reigns in the Ranks of Organized Labor in Kentucky.

Long and Harmonious State Convention Held Here This Week.

Calvin Wyatt Directed Proceedings as Representative of President Gompers.

PLEASANT BANQUET AT GALT HOUSE

During the week the Kentucky State Federation of Labor has been in session in Louisville, and the delegates from the various parts of the State have been made the guests of the city officially and personally. Visiting delegates, no matter what branch of labor they represented, whether it were the hodcarriers or the more skilled mechanic, were all made welcome and received on the level.

It is highly creditable to Louisville that she is free from the turmoil which prevails in labor circles in some of the larger American cities. At the banquet given at the Galt House in honor of the Kentucky State Federation of Labor on Monday the Mayor of the city was present and the Commonwealth Attorney was the toastmaster. The Mayor said that he had dealings with organized labor, and in his private and official business found that the representatives of the various unions were honest, and that it was a pleasure to deal with them in the settlement of labor troubles which of necessity come up in all cities.

Merchants, manufacturers, professional and business men, of all shades of political and religious belief, sat down to the banquet in honor of organized labor, and by their presence and expressions indicated that they felt that the union labor cause was just. In no other large American city have so many of the various terms, and this explains why Louisville is growing commercially. Among those who responded to the toast were President Wyatt, Judge John McCann, Peter Lee Atherton, Gus Hecken, Edward L. Cronk, Frank Fehr and Scott Bullitt.

The Federation, which was organized Monday morning in Germany when over a hundred delegates sent credentials, Calvin prominent officer of the A. F. of L. Federation of Labor and one of the best known and most conservative labor leaders in Pennsylvania, presided and directed the proceedings of the convention as the representative of President Samuel Gompers, who has had charge of the Kentucky case since the split at Covington last year. In opening the convention Mr. Wyatt assured the delegates that he proposed to be fair and impartial in his rulings, and that his one purpose was to restore harmony and again put the Kentucky Federation on a proper basis.

The first two days were devoted to routine work and the consideration of reports. At no time was there any discord or feeling displayed, and in the revision of the laws, which brought out lengthy debates, delegates expressed their views and voted without any expression giving way to ill temper or oppression. While numerous changes were made none were of great importance, but the laws as they were read are plain and will bear out on interpretation, which renders impossible a recurrence of the trouble. Reports from all sections of Kentucky show that the union movement is making splendid progress, and that when the eight hour day is granted the printers of Louisville there will be no difference of moment between capital and labor in Kentucky. The election of officers took place to take place in this issue.

NEWS FROM ROME.

Statements Sent American Press Are Mere Guess-work.

The press reports sent out from Rome this week for the American press are conflicting and ridiculous. One sent out for the Sunday paper declares that for the first time during the present pontificate the Pope will hold secret and public consistory on the same day, December 10. Another said the Pope would deliver an allocution and announce the appointment of eighty-four residential and titular Bishops, including three Americans and four Canadian and Newfoundland.

Monday the report is sent out that "it is probable that the consistory which was scheduled for December 6 will be postponed on account of the illness of Monsignor Joseph Samassa, Archbishop of Bologna, Hungary, who was to receive the red hat on that date."

Then comes the following, which is about as ridiculous an item as has been ever sent over: "The State Railroad Department has received orders to reconstruct the Pope's railroad carriage. This car has not been used since 1870. It is a special carriage, with gilded angels at the four corners. In each side there is a portable altar, and the upholsteries are of white velvet. This news is commented upon with much interest and people are wondering if it means that the Pope is about to leave the Vatican."

LIVING TRUTHS.

Hon. Edward J. McDermott, in his lecture Tuesday evening before the faculty and students of Notre Dame University, gave utterance to truths that made a decided impression upon his hearers. He urged upon the students that education is not only getting knowledge but mental and moral discipline; that its chief benefit is in improving our judgment and our will power and in giving us skill and quickness and certainty in solving the many problems that confront us in life. He showed that not only Cardinal Newman and other great leaders of the church, but also famous non-Catholics, like Herbert Spencer and Schopenhauer, have proven that knowledge does not make us good; that we may know what is right and do what is wrong; that we must not only improve the head but also the heart and the will. He said that the best investment that can be made for a boy is an investment in himself—an investment in his education—an investment that makes him a more valuable person; that a boy should be sent to the best college that could be found—that is, the best for his mind and his morals.

Mr. McDermott pointed out that some college men fail because they have too much false pride and want to begin at the top and because they don't keep up their studies and improvement and so fall behind hard workers who study and improve all the time, and so make up for their disadvantages in the start from want of education; that if such self-made men had had this advantage at first they would have done even better and their rise would have been faster. He deprecated the mere reading of newspapers and novels and light books, but insisted that such reading (good enough in moderation) must be followed up with substantial and constant study of the great books of the world that not by reading many books but by reading the few immortal books over and over again is the mind most improved. He has always, he contended, been the mother of schools, and universities and of science, and has been a safe, wise and incorruptible guide in religion and morals. She has stood the test of time. She still stands as the conservative guardian of childhood and home, of the Bible and Christianity, of education in the highest sense, of national liberty and the rights and duties of both capital and labor.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Catholics have heard and read many expositions upon the motive of the Catholic school, but none more efficacious than that by Monsignor Belle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York.

What is the motive of these schools? Msgr. Lavelle inquires. "Why do people, not yet overladen with the world's goods and only eager for the betterment of their condition, elect to support a voluntary system of education, after paying paid their taxes to the regularly organized system of the State?" The answer is this: The Catholic schools are supported by a large body of earnest, sincere, God-fearing men, who believe in their faith as they do in their life; who are anxious to see their faith stamped indelibly upon their children; who fear that this faith and all faiths are liable to be weakened, if not lost, by an education purely secular; and who are convinced that by making this sacrifice of double taxation they are doing the very best possible for the welfare of religion and morality, and at the same time for the honor, exaltation and solidifying of those institutions whose symbol is the royal red and white and the azure blue of Stars and Stripes. Why do they do this? They dread, on principle, education of the head without heart. They see more vice than should be about them, in high places and in low—drunkenness, dishonesty, dishonesty, hate, with its revolting sequels, divorce, disloyalty, anarchism, faithlessness to duty.

The records of casualties in football, for the season just closed, show that fourteen players were killed and 169 injured, the season embracing only the months of September, October and November. "This is a great improvement over the records of previous years," says the Courier-Journal, "being a decrease fully 50 per cent. due to the revised rules which do away with much of the excessive roughness to which so many accidents were formerly due." A still greater improvement would be to abolish the game altogether, thus avoiding such a fearful loss of life and the injury of the great number noted above.

Secretary-Treasurer Wilson, of the United Mine Workers, who will represent the Fifteenth Pennsylvania district in the next Congress, ran 7,500 votes ahead of his own ticket, overturning a normal majority of 5,000. Thomas D. Nichols, a bona fide coal miner, was elected to represent the Tenth district of the same State, reversing an adverse majority of 4,000 and being elected by one of 5,000. In addition to the above, fifteen members of the United Mine Workers' Union have been elected to the Pennsylvania State Legislature.

The outrages perpetrated at Princeton on Friday night of last week are a disgrace to that community and the State. Mob violence and incendiarism never right wrongs, and those who were guilty of the outrage should be apprehended and made to pay the penalty.

Texas Democrats are after Senator Bailey and his re-election now seems doubtful. The Attorney General charges him with having received loans, fees and favors from the Waters-Pierce Company, one of the corporations that the people of Texas have been fighting.

The Pure Food Commission, now holding sessions at Seelbach's, should not adjourn until they have fixed the standard between straight and blended whiskies. This question affects Kentucky now more than any other State.

Base ball writers say Tebeau has transferred his allegiance to Kansas City. Unless this is true Louisville has no chance on the base ball map.

Today is the feast of the Immaculate Conception and a holiday of obligation. Masses will be celebrated in all our churches this morning.

WITH THE SICK.

Michael J. Carroll, well known in Hibernian and Catholic circles, who has been ill for several weeks, is making but slow progress toward recovery, and on Thursday it was thought that he would have to undergo an operation. His friends will be glad to know that his physicians feel no alarm over his condition.

Virgil Bohn, with the Bush-Krebs Company, was taken ill last week and is now confined to his home, 2540 Bank street. Thursday he was reported improving, and it is thought he will be able to be at his post within the next few days.

Frank Wahle and John Schaefer, well known young men of the West End, are out again after an illness that kept them confined for several weeks and caused their relatives much uneasiness.

LOANED THEIR ORGAN.

The parishioners of the pretty little new church at Thirty-third and Market streets, of which the Rev. Father Kalaher has been made pastor, will receive a pleasing surprise tomorrow morning. Mackin Council has loaned the church its sweet-toned organ until such time as the congregation can secure one of its own, and when the good people of that neighborhood enter the church hereafter they will be greeted by strains of music. Father Kalaher is elated over his new charge, and it is safe to predict that it will not be long until he has a flourishing congregation.

KNIGHTS AND LADIES.

There was quite a reunion of the members of the Cathedral branch of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America in St. Francis Hall on Monday evening. Financial Secretary—Mrs. Mary Weisenberg. Treasurer—Mrs. William Kaiser. This is one of the pioneer branches of the C. K. and L. of A., and although organized many years ago continues to grow in numbers.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Buckingham promises a dainty and delightful show next week with the "High School Girls," and the added attraction, Hilda Carla and her twelve cadets. An olio of merit will complete a good bill.

Kathryn Osterman, who is starring this season in a play written especially for her, will be at the Masonic all of next week. This new play is entitled "The Girl Who Looks Like Me," and is said to be an unusually interesting piece and to most admirably suit the talents of Miss Osterman.

Next week brings a most spectacular and entertaining collection of acts to Hopkins' Theater. The bill is headed by the O'Kabe troupe of Japanese acrobats and jugglers. Others on the bill are Riekey and Nelson, the Nichols Sisters, the Basque Quartette, Ziska and King, Eckhoff and Gordon and Lillian Ashley.

Frank Daniels comes to Macaulay's the first half of next week, with Wednesday matinee, in his big musical comedy success, "Sergeant Brue." This was a big hit here last season. The last half of the week, with Saturday matinee, brings Tim Murphy in a revival of his delightful comedy, "Old Innocence," in which this talented character actor is at his best.

STEWED PRUNES.

Here is a prize recipe for stewed prunes, given by a California fruit growing association. Wash the prunes in several waters, nearly cover with water and allow to stand overnight. Simmer over a slow fire until tender. Do not put in any sugar until before the prunes are done.

HINTS ON STYLE.

Lace neckwear of all sorts remains an important factor in the fashion situation this winter.

Fashionable New York women have taken to wearing large veils of Chantilly lace in black or brown.

Blondes should avoid the lighter shades of blue, which are apt to give an ashy hue to the complexion.

A great deal of moire is used this winter for visiting and evening gowns, especially for the perennial favorite, the trained princess gown.

Stripes, plaids and checks are literally all the rage for general wear for young girls. Plain materials are seen almost entirely in the dressy suits.

Mink and all its imitations have proven to be the popular furs of the winter. Among the cheaper varieties coney furs have been in strong demand.

Capes are the very latest style again. Plaids, checks, tweeds, chevrons, broadcloth, kersey, double-faced materials, etc., can be used for making them.

The jumper and pinafore waists, as they are variously called, still hold their popularity. While this is a very youthful style, it is not confined to young girls.

In the collar line ruchings are playing a very considerable part this season, many of the prettiest and newest effects showing a ruching at least at the top.

Marabout boas are extremely stylish for evening wear all winter. The marabout possesses the great advantage over the ostrich of not getting uncured in damp weather.

Brunettes can not wear blue becomingly, since this shade, when shadowed by a yellow skin, enters into a composition of green, and the tanniness of the complexion is increased.

Fashionable modistes are making up quantities of comparatively simple costumes in worsteds, cloths and silks with lingerie guimpes and sleeves. Many simple plaids of serge weave are being used for this purpose.

A new fashion in walking hats is rather a rakish model with small or medium sized brim. This is very similar to the soft felt worn by men, save that the crown is invariably a soft crush and the brim unbound.

Green is a dangerous color for brunettes, but well adapted for the fair. A pale brunette can effectively wear red, as it heightens the effect of brune beauty. Yellow is highly becoming to the pale brunette also, and especially by gaslight.

PROPOSE LECTURE.

For the past two years members of the Young Men's Institute have been desirous of giving a public lecture for the Catholics of Louisville, but for various reasons it was deemed inexpedient until this week, when Messrs. Thomas D. Cline, Robert Burke and Ben Sand, of Mackin Council, were named a special committee to arrange for such a lecture in the near future. Those gentlemen are now in correspondence with orators of national fame, one of whom they expect to bring here. As soon as the selection is made and the date set announcement will be made in these columns.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Division 2 of East Boston is preparing for a two weeks' fair to be held at the latter part of January.

Start the new year in your division by bringing in at least one new member. That is the way to build up the order.

All the divisions in St. Paul, including the Ladies' Auxiliary, are actively engaged in obtaining funds for the proper conducting of their coming festival.

The sympathy of all Hibernians goes out to Will Meahan, who mourns the loss of his venerable mother, than whom there was no better nor more patriotic Irish woman in this city.

Every member of Division 1 should attend the meeting next Tuesday night. The annual election of officers will not be the most important business, as the Literary Committee will have some news that will interest every Hibernian in this city.

There should be a big turn-out at the meeting of Division 4 next Wednesday night. This is the strongest division in Kentucky, and it will be surprising if there is not "something doing." Officers will be elected for the coming year, and action may then be taken looking toward a meeting place nearer to Limerick.

The matter of furnishing Irish history to the parochial schools of Duluth, Minn., has been taken up by Division 1 of that city. The intention is to supply a complete set of books on Ireland and have the scholars devote a part of their time to its study. Then scholarship prizes will be offered as an inducement to study it.

Undoubtedly the most elaborate reception and ball ever held in Hartford, Conn., under the auspices of a Hibernian division, will be the grand function of Division 2 of that city at the Footguard Armory on the evening of January 16. State officers, members of the State government and church dignitaries will be present.

The National Board is in session at the Savoy Hotel in New York City. As this is the first time that a meeting of the National Board has been held in that city for twenty years the local body emphasized the fact by holding a general meeting last night, and tonight the County Board will entertain the national officers with a banquet at Healy's.

The initiation that will take place on Sunday, December 16, should be made a fitting close to the work of the year 1906. There is not a division in this city that has not a number of candidates awaiting the honors of the order, and it should be the pleasure of the officers and members to bring all such into the initiation. Hibernian Hall should be crowded that day, as the State and county officers will be present as special guests.

Impressive ceremonies marked the blessing on Sunday of the handsome statue of St. Patrick presented to St. Peter's church of New Castle, Del., by members of Division 3. The statue, which was imported from Munich, was placed near the Sacred Heart altar in the church and surrounded with flowers. The Hibernian Knights in full uniform, and the several divisions of the county, attended in a body. Children of the parochial school sang appropriate hymns. Rev. Frederick V. Campbell, pastor of St. Peter's, preached an eloquent sermon on the life of St. Patrick. The statue is one of the finest in the diocese.

HANDS OVER NICE CHECK.

Popular among the young people of the city is the Mackin Council Social Club, which has been giving reception dances at the club house or Twenty-sixth street during the fall months. They have now been discontinued because of the season of Advent and will not be resumed until after the holidays. Tuesday night the club surprised Mackin Council by the presentation of a check for a tidy sum of money, which will materially assist in the purchase of new furnishings. The council expressed its appreciation of the gift in fitting manner and urged the club to continue its pleasant series of entertainments, where the young people of the city may spend many happy evenings during the winter months.

GILMORE CONCERT.

The Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore testimonial concert and jubilee at Cincinnati tomorrow night has attracted widespread attention. It will be given for the benefit of the wife and daughter of the late bandmaster, with whose name so many mammoth musical band festivals in this country have been associated. Two hundred Cincinnati musicians of the American Federation have volunteered their services for this concert. A chorus of 500 voices will be heard in "The Heavens Are Telling," "Hymn of Thanks," "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," and "The Last Rose of Summer."

CHANGE FOR BETTER.

During the past few days there has been a marked improvement in the condition of Capt. Thomas Maher, Chief of Detectives, who was last week taken to St. Anthony's Hospital suffering from stomach and rheumatic troubles. Thursday the Chief was able to be up, and it is now thought that with proper rest it will not be long until he is again restored to perfect health.

BACK ON DUTY.

Lieut. Edward Heffernan reported for duty Wednesday at Central Police Station after an absence of two weeks, which was due to his illness. While he has not entirely recovered, Lieut. Heffernan is practically well, and his condition is such that he has resumed his duties. Two weeks before he was taken sick of malaria and for several days his condition was very serious.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest

Members Here and Elsewhere.

Boston Chapter has engaged the Tremont Theater for the week of January 21 for its annual theatrical production.

Three priests, Rev. Father Welbers, Coma and Wareing became third degree Knights at the recent initiation held at San Antonio.

State Deputy John Martin, of Green Bay, has organized a council at Stevens Point, Mich., with a charter membership of about fifty.

Catholics of Phoenix, Ariz., are planning to establish a council in that city. Plagstaff, Bisbee and Prescott have flourishing councils.

At a recent meeting of the council at Newport, R. I., the third degree was conferred on a class of fifty candidates. District Deputy John Sullivan officiating for the first time.

The military companies and divisions of Worcester, Mass., are arranging for a great celebration and field day on March 17. Delegates from the united divisions met last Sunday to take the initiatory steps for the proper observance of the day.

New Hampshire Knights witnessed a pleasing exemplification of the third degree at Manchester on Thanksgiving day. The local council and visiting members attended mass at St. Anne's, Rev. John Lyons presiding over the ceremony.

A pretty feature at the recent largely attended cotillion given by Baltimore Council was the shadow dance, in which the dancers, both ladies and gentlemen, were masked, the hall being darkened and various colored lights being played on the dancers. There were five figures in the cotillion, which was led by Frank J. Walsh.

If a little vinegar be kept boiling on the stove while onions or cabbage are cooking it will prevent the disagreeable odor going through the house.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled
From Exchanges.

There is a movement on foot to light the streets of Shercock at night.

The death is chronicled of J. Connolly, an old merchant and resident of Monaghan, who belonged to an old family that was universally respected in the town.

A destructive fire occurred at the meal and flour mills of Messrs. Stewart & Sons at Coalisland, County Tyrone, when damage to the amount of $100,000 was done.

A fire broke out on Sunday in the Catholic chapel at the Curragh camp, and considerable damage was done to the roof. One of the massess was celebrated in the open air.

Compensation was awarded to a number of Catholic householders at the Banbridge quarter sessions in Down, for damage done to their dwellings during the recent Orange riot at Gilford.

At the Middleton quarter sessions John Murray, builder and contractor, applied for and obtained compensation for malicious damage to the pedestal of the Father O'Neill monument in Green Park, Youghal.

A beautiful memorial is being erected to the late Monsignor O'Laverty in front of St. Columbkille's church at Holywood, County Down. It consists of a cross on an elevated base, fifteen feet high, of Irish stone, chastely carved and chiselled.

Preaching lately at St. Columba's church, in aid of the schools erected within the church grounds, the Most Rev. Dr. Clancy, Bishop of Elphin, dealt at length with the evil results following the conclusion of the religious element from education.

The Irish lace school under the care of the Sisters of Charity at Tubbercurry, County Sligo, have been awarded a gold medal for the beautiful laces exhibited by them at the recent Milan Exhibition. This school also received a silver medal and diploma from the St. Louis Exposition.

At the inquest held at Newtownbangan on the body of Patrick Garvey, the retired schoolmaster found unconscious on the public road, and who died shortly after being removed to a neighboring house, Coroner Sellars and the jury found that death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy suffered while deceased was on his way to Dundalk.

Daniel O'Connell's walking stick has been presented to the rector of Lisburn, Antrim, to be balloted for in aid of his bazaar. This relic of the "Liberator" is the gift of Monsignor McCann, rector of Drogheda, to whom it passed as a gift from the late Bernard McNulty of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, who had it given him in token of many services to Ireland by a number of Repealers.

The death of John C. McDermott, J. P., occurred recently at Whitegate, County Clare. McDermott was a life-long Nationalist and has taken a prominent part in every popular movement since 1865. He was the first Chairman of the Scariff District Council, and for many years a member of the Clare County Council. His popularity was testified by the immense concourse of mourners from Clare and Galway that followed the remains to the cemetery at Clonrush.

The Cork Industrial Exhibition was a great success, and the knowledge which it has been the means of diffusing can not fail to prove helpful in furthering the work in which the Industrial Association is engaged. The habit of asking for home-made goods is happily growing among the people. Irish industrial exhibitions help to bring Irish manufactured articles directly under the notice of the consumers, and those held in Cork have, it is admitted, done much to create a more than local demand for such articles.

In spite of the efforts to check emigration from Ireland, the returns for the nine months, ending with September, show a big increase. During the first three months of the year there was a substantial decline, but in April a rush of emigrants began, which has swollen the tide to a figure much beyond previous years. The total number for the nine months is 30,081, as compared with 23,215 last year. The increase is less from congested and poverty-stricken districts than from the more prosperous provinces. Of the emigrants to America, 8,336 had their passages prepaid by friends in this country. If the increase is maintained until the end of the year, over 35,000 young Irish men and Irish women will have left Ireland. These figures would tend to prove that the steps thus far taken to make Ireland attractive to its younger people have not been successful.

URSULINE NUN HONORED.

Mother Augustine, of the Ursuline Convent at Springfield, Ill., has been selected as a member of the Ursuline Council under the Mother General of the Ursuline nuns in Rome.

IRON RUST.

Nothing acts on iron rust in cloth so quickly as lemon juice and salt. Be sure that the material is well wet with the lemon and completely cover the spot with salt. After reasonable exposure to strong sunlight not a trace of rust will remain.

BLANKETS.

When blankets have become thin and unsightly from long use have them washed, not two or three together and cover them with pretty sateen to make quilts. Button down the quilts here and there, mattress fashion, to keep them in proper shape and finish off with a nice frill of sateen.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP.

Two quarts of water, a pint of beans, a small soup bone, one pod of pepper, six whole cloves. Cook gently for four hours, then strain through a colander, replace the soup and boil ten minutes. Have ready one hard boiled egg, chopped fine, and a thin slice of lemon in the tureen; pour the

THE "WHY" OF IT.

In all piano players, the "pneumatics" are the vital part of the entire mechanism. In all piano players, EXCEPT THE CECILIAN these "pneumatics" are made of wood and leather and that's where the trouble comes in. Ever get your shoes wet and have them dry hard and stiff? Leather will do that in damp weather, for it absorbs the moisture. Ever had a door or window stick in your house? It's because the wood swells during the damp weather. That's the trouble with the wood and leather "pneumatics." They are affected by the constant changes in the weather and can't do the work properly.

In the Cecilian Piano Player mechanism the "pneumatics" and the wind chest are made of metal—brass, steel and phosphor bronze—weather doesn't affect them in any way. They don't swell, neither do they shrink, and that's why they are always in perfect working order.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Large and Harmonious Meeting of Mackin Council Tuesday.

Not for many years has Mackin Council held so quiet an election as that which took place Tuesday night, when Ben J. Sand was the unanimous choice to succeed President Charles Raidy, who would not accept another term. Only two officers, Secretary Frank Adams and Treasurer Dan Weber, were re-elected, the members of Mackin Council insisting that they serve another term. The officers elected are capable men and make certain another progressive administration. They are:

President—Ben J. Sand.
First Vice President—John T. Kinney.
Second Vice President—Frank Lanan.
Recording Secretary—Ben Reed.
Financial Secretary—Frank G. Adams.
Corresponding Secretary—Fred Zahn.
Treasurer—Daniel W. Weber.
Marshal—John Humphrey.
Inside Sentinel—Adolphus Andriot.
Outside Sentinel—George Bartsch.
Executive Committee—Clarence H. Zook, Thomas D. Cline, John Carr, William Kerberg, Martin Robinson.
Two applications were received and two members were elected. Letters of sympathy were ordered sent Messrs. James McTighe and John Crotty, who suffered the loss of their father and brother. The council appropriated $25 and placed the same in the hands of President Raidy to be expended in entertaining members of Mackin at the Sisters' bazar.

LADIES ELECT.

Hibernian Auxiliary Still Continues to Grow in Members.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians continues to grow in numbers, initiations taking place every month at least. Wednesday night there was a splendid gathering at the new hall at Seventeenth and Main streets, and the initiation and much routine business the election of officers was gone into with the following results:

President—Miss Mary Sheridan.
Vice President—Miss Elizabeth King.
Recording Secretary—Miss Rose Kelly.
Financial Secretary—Miss Dora McGinty.
Treasurer—Mrs. Alice Dougherty.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Bertha King.
Sentinel—Mrs. Margaret Foley.
This is a set of officers that will continue the good work of the past year, and the example they set might well be followed by the men of the order.

kets, and even in Ireland the quantity of this imitation material has grown so large that vigorous steps are being taken to discourage the sale and require shopkeepers to state distinctly whether the "poplin" they are selling is genuine Irish or foreign make, and under the term "foreign" is included British manufacture.

NEW ALBANY.

Unity Council Out of Debt And Going to Build Big Hall.

Unity Council Y. M. I. of New Albany, held a rousing meeting Tuesday night, when the welcome news was imparted that the organization was out of debt and that soon a hall would be built that would be the equal of any in that city. Announcement was made by President O'Hara that Sunday was the annual communion day for the members, who will visit St. Mary's church tomorrow morning 225 strong. The fact that the election of officers was to take place added interest to the meeting, and although there were some spirited contests there was no semblance of faction, which argues well for the council and the incoming administration, which will be as follows:

Chaplain, Rev. George G. Borries.
President, James O'Hara.
First Vice President, Peter W. Fetter.
Second Vice President, Edward Tigh.
Recording Secretary, Dan Carrick.
Financial Secretary, Frank Zoeller, Jr.
Treasurer, Mat Roth.
Marshal, John Ott.
Inside Sentinel, Frank Ralston.
Outside Sentinel, C. J. McBaron.
Executive Committee, Edward Bedan, Mike Roth, Joe Reising, Charles Cheap, Fred Reiser.
Charles Pfeiffer, one of the most earnest workers and a grand officer, was named for Council Deputy. The outlook for Unity was never better, and it is anticipated that the other Falls Cities Councils will have to work to keep in the lead of their Indiana rivals.

COVINGTON.

Close of Great Mission Conducted by Knights of Columbus.

The most successful mission for non-Catholics ever held in the Covington diocese came to a close Sunday night at St. Aloysius church in Covington, which was thronged every night during the week that it lasted. The Knights of Columbus, under whose auspices the mission was conducted, marched from their hall to the church in a body.
The first reception of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association, recently organized, was given by the Southern Council on Friday night of last week. Miss Lehr gave a recitation and vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. Francis Sibley, the Misses Bird and Butler, Cyril Ryan and Joe Kennedy, with Miss Helen Kelly and Miss Stella Griffin as accompanist. Misses Mamie Brown and Rosetta Quirk rendered musical solos, and short addresses were delivered by visitors from Cincinnati.
The death of James Toner, a highly respected member of the Cathedral congregation, caused widespread sorrow throughout the city. His funeral took place Monday morning and was very largely attended.
